GOOD VAUDEVILLE OFFERED AT KEITH'S

English and American Comedians Tie for Honors-Please ing Bills Elsewhere

Reith's—American and English comedians vie with each other for favor at Keith's this week with honors so even that it would be an injustice to both to try and pick the winner.
Chris Richards, the eccentric English comedian—mentioned first only because he is a visitor—kept the audience in an uproar with his funny sayings and contortions. In addition, he is a soft shoe dancer of exceptional merit.
And Billy Arlington, the American,
was just as funny. Like Richards, Arlington had the house with him from his initial appearance, Many who knew him in burlesque were there to freet him in his new venture.
The Ford sisters, Mahel and Dora, show a spectacular dance production that merits the expensive costumes, settings and private orchestra they carry.
They achieved the same success here in other cities.
The other acts are fair. Ed Morton pleases with some funny parodles.
Johnson, Baker and Johnson show some of the wonderful things that can be accomplished with straw hats. Zomah, the "unsolved mystery," is indeed that.

of the wonderful things that can be accomplished with straw hats. Zomah, the "unsolved mystery," is indeed that. Her mind-reading act is much above the ordinary presentation of its kind. Mile, La Toy's models give a wonderful exhibition of intelligence. Ed Lowry and Irene Prince are funny in their patter sketch. "Fifty-Fifty," Grace De Mar is alone and she needs no aid in putting over her damty songs.

FARCE AT ORPHEUM

"She Walked in Her Sleep" Has Lots of Fun

Orpheum—Farce of the hilarious order is a diverting offering with the presentation by Mae Desmond and her players of "She Walked in Her Sleep," the action of which takes place in a New York hotel. A young and beautiful girl takes to somnambulism and there are many complex situations which are provocative of fun of a riotous, aithough proper kind. Things take on a lively aspect until the very end of the play. The cast includes Miss Desmond. Frank Fielder, Lloyd Sabine, Eleanor Brent, Tello Webb. Louise Sanford, Evelyn Duncan, Summer Nichols and Jay Mulrey. The play is staged with appreciation of the atmosphere of the story.

"Convict Ship" on View The convict ship "Success," the oldest ressel affoat and the only remaining prison ship of England's felon fleet, which came to the port for the purpose of going into drydock, will be open to the public. The vessel is tied up at the foot of Market street, Delaware river. Owing to the fact that the convict ship is to go to Cuba and from there to Australia, this will be the last opportunity to see the vessel, for it will not appear in these waters spain. The public popular in the swaters again. appear in these waters again. The public will be admitted daily from 2 a. m. to 10 p. m. The ship is lighted by electricity, and can be inspected at night as well as by day. Lecturers and guides are provided.

K. OF C. TO GIVE DINNER

Commodore Barry Council to Honor Daniel Wade, Treasurer

The Commodore Barry Council of the Knights of Columbus will give a testimonial dinner at the Majestic Hotel this evening to its treasurer. Daniel Wade, who has returned from a three months' trip abroad. Mr. Wade is chairman of the board of governors of the K. C. of Philadelphia, and has been the council's representative in the Philadelphia Chapter for many years. Among the speakers at the dinner this evening will be Councilman Joseph V. FORREST—"Tip Top," Fred Stone's brand new show, with music by Ivan Carryll. Produced by Charles Dillingham. The Six Brown Brothers, the Palace Girls, a famous London Music Hall ballet of sixteen, and the delightful Duncar. Sisters are features. Many elaborate scenic and mechanical devices are utilized.

LYRIC — "Broadway Brevities of 1920," a colorful entertainment by George Le Maire. Eddie Cantor and Bert Williams are the star entertainers. Thirty-one scenes furnish varied and vivid backgrounds for a very handsome chorus and some promising newcomers in the revue field.

"Romance."

Mythical kingdoms are always easy to write about, for one does not have to keep to historical data, as must be done in productions like Geraidine Farrar's "Joan, the Woman." Next door, at the Stanley, is the Justin Huntly McCarthy version of the life of Francols Villon, a play of this type, and it is more or less accurate in details. ## THEDA BARA SEEN IN REAL CLOSE-UP

Idol of Silver Sheet Goes on Stage Vampage in "The Blue Flame"

Adelphi-A cold and critical audience had some warmth pumped into its blood and forgot its criticism as scene succonded scene of "The Blue Flame." which brought Theda Bara to the Philadelphia "speaking stage" last night. Outside the theatre it was a calm and even balmy night, with the tonic tang of changing seasons in it. But within! To quote one seasons in it. But within: To quote one of the characters engaged as an expositor of the preliminaries which would set the plot going, "It was a stormy night." It was.

Torrential emotions, cleopatrism, agnosticism, Buddhism, coke sniffing. Chinatown drugs, murder, modern science, with its marvelous inventions—these were only a few of the things that thickened the plot. And it was a thick plot too, a plot that forgot to stir in thickened the plot. And it was a thick plot, too, a plot that forgot to stir in none of the ancient ingredients of melodrammer and that spiced and seasoned it all with the up-to-date touches of cinematic dramaturgy. Through it all moved the malign, evily beautiful personation of Theda Bara, the celebrated vampire of the screen, who is to be seen by her admirers for a brief engagement in a real flosh and blood "close-up."

It is powerful melodrama, as said, and though it does not recapture the fine. DOROTHY GISH STAR

In 'HISTORICAL' FILM

In a least of the start of th nuances and fine shadings of expression, doubtless owing to the limitations imposed on her by her posing for the screen in so many plays. But her methods of broad and heavily colored brushwork certainly made one's flesh creep. As for her support, there were times when you would hardly believe they were acting, especially the jeune premier (or juvenile lead).

Photoplays Elsewhere

CHESTNUT ST. OPERA BOUSE—
"Way Down East." D. W. Griffith's movie, made from Lottie Blair Parker's popular rural comedy drama. A fine production.

STANLEY—"If I Were King" is the Justin Huntly McCarthy version of the life of Francis Villon, and William Farnum interprets the role. A romantic story of the life of the French poet. It shows his many escapades and love affairs.

PALACE—"The Cradle of Courage" has William S. Hart in the leading role. He is a policeman, soldier and citizen in turn, and the thrilling things he does measure well up to his former roles.

ARCADIA—"Civilian Clothes" provides Thomas Meighan with a role that is fitting. He represents an A. E. F. officer who marries while in uniform and then becomes a butler in the home of his wife's people to teach them democracy.

VICTORIA—"Go and Get It" is what the city editor tells a reporter, and he discovers that the story he is after turns out to be a melodramatic one. Marshall Nellan made the production.

CAPITOL—Anita Stewart in "The Yellow Typhoon."

People's—Arthur Pearson's "Powder Puff Review" is attracting favorable comments from those who attended yes-terday's performances at the Frankford playhouse. The songs are well selected and a number of good comedy attuations have been supplied for the agile come-dians.

Trocadero—Max Spiegel presents his "Social Follies," headed by John Quigg. Bert Glass, Jules Black, William Davis, Sam Howard, Bunny Dale, Madlyn Worth and Tillie Delaney. The show is entertaining and the chorus evidently knows how to dance and sing.

Bijou—Two Burlettas, "Here and There," and "Paris by Night," com-prises the production called "Girls From the Follies." They provide ample chances for a number of comedians. In the clever cast are Fred Binder, Sid Rigers, Billie Walsh, Lew Howard and Sam Wilson.

Young Men and Boys Young Men and Boys The EPISCOPAL ACADEMY

With Which Was United in 1915

The Delancey School Locust and Juniper Streets, Philadelphia PREPARES boys for all Colleges and Technical Schools. Members of graduating class will this autumn enter Haverford, Lehigh, Lafayette, Dartmouth, University of Pennsylvania, Cornell, Princeton and Harvard.

A Junior School affords careful training for little boys.

NOTE: The Trustees of the Academy have purchased at Overbrook on City Line within a few minutes' walk of the station, a spacious modern building, together with fourteen acres of land, to which they will move the School as soon as alterations and additions can be made. In its new location the work of the Academy will continue as heretofore, and provision will be made for the pupils' afternoon study hours. Ample opportunity will be furnished for healthful exercise in the oper air on the playgrounds of the School property under the direction of skilled physics, directors. As it will be impossible under present labor conditions to have the building ready for occupancy in time for the opening of the next session, the School will re-open at its present site, 1324 Locust Street. After the removal to Overbrook, it is proposed to continue the Junior School for very little boys in the city in a suitable building which will be secured for that purpose. The very small boys from the neighborhood of Overbrook will be provided for at the Overbrook School as soon as it

The next session opens September 23d for the Upper School: September 24th for the Middle School, and September 27th for the Junior School. The football field and baseball field will be made ready as soon as possible.

The Register, together with an Announcement of the Board of Trustees, giving details of the removal of the School to Overbrook, will be sent on application. The Office at 1324 Locust Street is now open for the enrollment of pupils.
